Drama of Boxer Uprising. A drama unique in the history of motion picture making, is the feature at the Colonial theatre today. It is entitled, "In the Dragon's Claws," and is in two reels. It is a story of the white colony at Peking, who are giving a big ball; while several members of the staff of servants are acting friendly, secretly are Boxers, and are waiting their opportunity to wreak their vengeance on the white population. The opportunity comes, with wonderful disastrous results, the tale of which forms the brilliant plot of this astounding mystery drama of the Lubin act. Incidentally some bewild-ering glimpses of oriental life are shown, while the photography is un-excelled. "The Girl at Lone Point," is the incident of the Hazard of Helen Series for today. In it, Miss Holmes takes some startling chances, and fairts with death in a truly hazardous manner. This is one of the famous railroad victures so popular at the Colonial theatre. Other films today are "Hearst-Selig Weekly," "When Dumbleigh saw the Joke," with Sidney Drew avery strong programme. nev Drew, a very strong programme, Tomorrow begins the new serial featuring Crane Wilbur, entitled "The Road O'Strife." This incident is en-titled "The House of Secrets."

This evening Ben Loring's Big Mu-sical Revue company opens an en-gagement of two days at this popular will be a matinee performance, with the usual show in the evening. The Loring company brings to Dan-ielson the brightest and classiest of summer shows—a frolic of fun and fancy every minute of the way.

A bevy of pretty chorus girls, charmingly gowned, are entrancing producers of melody and singing all the new hits of the day. The revue introduces many novelties and gives interested audience. The little ones from the primary department, all in white, were seated on the platform behind the ferns and dalsies. The programme was well carried out by the children. Theodore Sterry's violing was rendered with fine expression solo was rendered with fine expression.

The subject of Rev. G. H. Ewing's talk to the children was on Helpfulness. The automobile custom of stopping to offer help to disabled cars sets us a fine example. A curse was once pronounced upon people who wouldn't be helpful, and Christ upbraided those who refused to help lift the heavy burdens of others, saying: All ye are brethren. God helps the man who helps others. The motto of the Boy Scouts is excellent for all: "Do a good turn every day." The lesson of help-fulness was illustrated by the ants who even make of themselves animated who even make of themselves animated suspension bridges and help build each other's houses, and also by a number of other stories. The final thought was of the "help that cometh from the Lord" to be passed on to attention of the children as he spoke from the text The Birds of the Air. Different birds were pictured on charts and lessons drawn from them. This little fellow in the cage would sing with all his heart if he knew you, he began. The first bird I will show is the oriole. He comes in April and sings the prophecy of flowers and fruit. His lesson to us is to be cheerful. Another is the bluebird; he says: "Take care of me." He teaches us gentleness. The sparrow stands for common folks. He has a plain dress. common folks. He has a plain dress, but he doesn't find fault, and does his share in the work of his world. The bird of paradise with its rich plumage of red and gold and silver teaches us to love God and adore Him. It tells of the beauty and glory and riches f heaven.

POETRY

"I LOVE YOU, DEAR." A scent of violets in the air.
And singing birds,
A beauty new-born fresh and fair.
Too deep for words;
A little maid with floral crown
On hair of gold,
And hiushing cheeks where lies the kiss
Of lover bold,
Whose boyish lips a story tell
Into the ear.
As bending low, he whispers soft,
"I love you dear!"

The breath of roses in the air. The breath of roses in the air,
And lilacs sweet,
And sunny sky of azure blue
The morn doth greet;
A maiden crowned with womanhood,
And robed in white,
With smiling lips, and in her eyes
A tender light,
Before the altar proudly stands,
And answers clear
The one who whispers soft and low,
"I love you dear."

A whirl of snowflakes in the air,
A cold gray sky,
Where scudding clouds and wintry
winds
Go sweeping by;
A woman with a crown of years
On silvered hair,
And faded cheek, where youth's fair bloom
Once lineared these And Issued bloom bloom Once lingered there, Beside the hearthstone knits and rocks, While some one near Bends low his whitened head and says, "I love you, dear!"—Lue F. Vernon.

THE DIFFERENCE. The sun rose clear and the wild birds and the dew was sweet where the two roads meet,
For a riot of roses redly glowed
Just where the forest pathway showed.
You came, and the picture was all complete.
It was gay all day when my love was

Where the two roads meet 'neath a smiling sky. A cloud blew up from an angry sea,
And the birds were still on the wooded hill;
The flowers deserted, drooped and
paled;
Down through the valley the east wind walled— On the shrinking blossoms wrought his will. It was gray all day when my love was was gray an day when my love was gons.

Where the two roads meet, and I walked alone.

-L. Adelaide Sherman, in Springfield Republican.

THE KALEIDOSCOPE With the completion of a new railroad in Western Africa, early next year, it will be possible to cross the Dark Continent from the Atlan-tic to the Indian Ocean by rail and iver routes.

That he has melted metals in a vacuum by focusing the sun's rays on them without using a container of high heat resisting properties is the assertion of a German scientist.

Students in Paris have formed an anticollar league, declaring that col-lars are unhealthy and inartistic. The members pledge themselves not to wear any kind of neckwear. In the district near Winnipeg there is soon to be established the finest fox ranch in the world. From 20 to 300 of the choicest animals to be found in the North will be procured to start with. Moving a clock a distance of a mile from one house to another in Waycross, Ga., caused it to resume work after it had lain idle for seven years. Jewelers had failed to start it going, but the jostling succeeded. French aviators flew 8,500,000 miles last year, as compared with 2,000,000 miles in 1913: 136,00 hours were occupied in flight, as compared with 39,000 hours, and 48,000 passengers were carried, four times as many as in the previous year. Work on the largest tunnel on this side of the Atlantic has been started for a Canadien railroad. The tunnel will be a little over five miles long, will cange the grade 545 feet, and will necessitate changing the course of nearly a mile of river.

The total number of vessels admitted to American registry under the act of August 18, 1914, is 133 with a gross tomage of 480,981 and a net tonnage of 310,833.
